WHERE THE SECRET LIES.

A Colloquy Between the Reporter and a Business Man of Ardmore -- His Views.

"Say, did you know that business was on the increase and money becoming plentiful?"

The reporter stopped and looked around at the worn-out, tired-looking man who had accosted him with the above language.

"Well, it seems that some of the merchants are doing a good business," answered the knight of the pencil.

"Just step in here a minute," said the tired-looking man, "and see how much work we have taken in today."

The reporter went in. The tired man was Mr. Robert Hoffman, T. H. Parker's jeweler, and the establishment was Mr. Parker's mammoth jewelry store.

The pencil pusher gazed around in stupefaction as the innumerable trays of new and fine watches, necklaces, bracelets, rings, etc., were presented to view. Show cases and windows were a mass of lovely jewelry.

"Here," said Mr. Hoffman, "is what I wanted to show you," and he revealed a large tray of watches, rings, etc. "Here is the amount of repair work taken in today."

The ARDMOREITE man was astonished. But he soon had the key to the situation. Mr. Hoffman picked up several newspapers and, turning their pages, showed the reporter an advertisement for T. H. Parker in each of them.

The ladies of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will serve ice cream and cake to the children of the Sunday School and their friends on next Tuesday evening, September 18, at the residence of Mrs. Robinson, just west of the church, from 5 to 8 o'clock.

The compass whistle sounded the ending tidings of its commencement of operation for the season.

BRIDE AND GROOM AT HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Silliman Arrive From Saint Paul, Minnesota. Ardmoreite's Welcome.

A. B. Silliman accompanied by his bride, Miss Nella Whitbeck, arrived this morning from St. Paul, Minn. The happy twain, now one, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents in the above named city on the evening of Sept. 4, and are now duly en-cased in their cozy new home on Church street. Mr. Silliman is too well and favorably known to require an introduction at our hands and his bride standing pre-eminently high in the first social circles of her former home, requires no time to ingratiate herself into the front ranks of Ardmore's similar sphere. The Ardmoreite bids Mr. and Mrs. Silliman a hearty welcome and bespeaks for them a long, prosperous and happy life in our midst. In doing so it voices the earnest sentiments of the good people of Ardmore.

Attached.

We learn that W. E. Washington's store at Marietta and other property was attached yesterday by Blassingame & Nail for a claim for $15,000. We could not learn the particulars. Mr. Washington has several creditors here, but they do not seem to be at all uneasy about it, and say they do not think the suit will amount to much. —Gainesville Hesperian.

Hon. Yancy Lewis came this afternoon from South McAlester, where he has been in an official capacity as master in chancery for the Choctaw railway.

Jerry and William Washington, of Marietta, came up this afternoon on business.

School House Burned.

The school house and Masonic lodge, located somewhere near Woodford, was burned night before last by incendiaries. The case has been worked up to a point justifying the issuance of warrants. Deputies Lindsay and Covington left this afternoon to make the arrests.

G. W. Oliver, wife and baby left this afternoon for their old home at Hico, Tex., where they will again take up their residence. During their short sojourn in Ardmore Mr. and Mrs. Oliver made many friends who regret to lose them from their midst.

Uncle Tom Nolen, who has been confined to his room for several weeks has so far recovered, we are glad to state, as to be able to be on the street.

J. B. Spragins left on the afternoon south bound train for Henrietta, Tex., where he went after Mrs. Spragins, who has been visiting there for a couple of weeks.

Last Night's Storm.

About two o'clock this morning an electrical storm, accompanied with a deluge of rain, but little or no wind, broke loose upon our city. The lightning played an awe inspiring part while the rain attended strictly to the cleaning up of the city, sweeping the streets clean. While the force of men who for the past week have been doing excellent work on the streets improved the rapid drainage of same, so it can plainly be seen, that there is yet room for further improvement. The grading around the culverts on upper Caddo street has been washed out and undoubtedly will be refilled again. This street by the way is one among the prettiest in the city and should be graded. In its present condition, the middle of it is the channel for the water and is surely forming a ditch.

A late caravan of deputy marshals have signified their intention to arrest every man they can make any sort of a case against for hauling firewood from the Wichita reservation. None of them, so far, have signified any intention to capture the Bill Doan gang. Doan and his crowd carry winchests. —Minco Minstrel.

Charlie Dine, the bustling cotton buyer got an unusual move on himself yesterday and purchased the rice or 200 bales of the deuce staple.

Hon. C. M. Campbell and A. Edelman went to Hico this morning at which place they addressed the farmers on the all important subject of the Farmers Protective League.

Mrs. Queen Edwards and Elna Dutton went to Berwyn this afternoon to visit friends.

W. G. Cecil accompanied by his Tennessee friend, A. R. Orr went to Davis this afternoon.

B. E. Brown, of the firm of Brown Bros., jewelers, went to Gainesville this afternoon.

HEART DISEASE.

There is Hope for Those Afflicted With It If They Take Courage.

Let those who are haunted with suspicions of heart disease, and even those who have good reason to know that they are suffering from that insurable malady, take courage from a short story told by the late Sir Andrew Clark in the course of a clinical lecture at the London hospital.

After reminding the young students of the necessity for caution in the "prognosis," or forecast of the progress of this disease, Sir Andrew went on to relate an anecdote of the house governor of that very hospital—a clergyman who was about to be married. His intended father-in-law came to him and said, "You see you have got no money, sir; you must go and get your life insured." At the end of the medical examination the physician said to him: "We cannot accept you." "Why?" asked the astonished house governor. "Oh, we would rather not say." "But," he said, "I have never been ill in my life," and indeed he was a sturdy fellow. "Well," said the physician, "if you will have it you have got heart disease." "Heart disease? How long shall I live? Shall I live for six months?" "Oh, yes," replied the medical men, "you may do that."

He went home and the match was broken off. He wrote to the committee saying that as he had a mortal disease of the heart, and could not live for six months, he withdrew his application for rooms wherein to dwell with his wife. On the receipt of this letter the committee deliberated, and said: "We must superannuate him, poor fellow; and, as he has but six months to live, we will let him have his full pay." Accordingly he was superannuated upon his full pay, and upon this superannuity, said Sir Andrew, he lived for more than fifty years.
